

ANNUAL REVIEW 2006

President

Shirley D. Lingenfelter

As we reflect back on 2006, the 30th anniversary of the Southern Alleghenies Museum of Art, we may think of it as a year of great change. We have been faced with some new challenges, and have had to say farewell to some old friends along the way. But any time one door closes, another inevitably opens, and I believe this door will lead to greener pastures for our museum. It was my first term serving as President of the Board of Trustees, and while it may have been one marked by challenges, it also makes the rewards all the more fulfilling.

In March of 2006, our former Director, Dr. Michael A. Tomor, resigned from his position to return to his hometown of El Paso, Texas, to serve as Director of the El Paso Museum of Art. In the fall, our Fine Arts Curator, Dr. Graziella Marchicelli, departed to assume the position of Director of the Amarillo Museum of Art in Amarillo, Texas. We also said goodbye to Bernard Kuzma, our long-time Security and Maintenance Coordinator, who served our museum for nearly 20 years. While we hate to lose such quality individuals, I would like to take this moment to acknowledge each of them for their years of hard work and dedication to this museum. I extend my most sincere wishes for their continued success and happiness in their future endeavors.

But 2006 was hardly a year of goodbyes. It was also a time when we welcomed our new Director, Kent Ahrens, who came to us from Athens, Ohio. Kent's experience, expertise and enthusiasm is a welcome addition to our museum, and I would like to take this opportunity to welcome him to SAMA as we look forward to a new period of growth and achievement under his direction. I would like to extend my compliments to the staff on another year of wonderful programming, and for helping me continue the day-to-day operations of the museum during our transitional period. I also would like to thank those members of the Board of Trustees who gave their time and effort to serve on our Transition Team.

I look toward the future of the Southern Alleghenies Museum of Art with great confidence and optimism. With our Arts-in-Education and Artist-in-Residence programs, we continue to serve tens of thousands of students throughout Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland counties. The implementation of the new Humanities-in-Residence program, as well as the overwhelming success of the ever-increasing Museum/Health Care Partnership Program, are signs of the instrumental role we play in our communities. I thank our Board of Trustees, Auxiliary, Advisory Board members, staff, donors, volunteers, artists and patrons for their time and effort in support of the Southern Alleghenies Museum of Art. Each of you is responsible for the success and longevity of this institution, and it is my privilege and honor to recognize you for your hard work, dedication and selfless contributions. I look forward to another year of continued success as we enrich the lives of those in our communities.

Sincerely,
Shirley D. Lingenfelter

Director's Address

In the several months I have served as Director of the Southern Alleghenies Museum of Art, I consistently have been impressed with the quality of the institution's exhibition and education programming. This museum has a long history of success, and I look forward to carrying on that standard of excellence and achievement that has been realized before me. I am delighted to be a part of such a highly-regarded institution, and I look forward to the opportunity to work with the staff, community and trustees in the year ahead as we continue to promote the Southern Alleghenies Museum of Art and the vital role the arts play in our communities.

I also would like to express my sincere gratitude to our donors, without whom we would not be able to fulfill our mission of bringing quality fine arts programming to the rural populations of Central and Southwestern Pennsylvania. Thank you for your support of our museum.

Kent Ahrens
Director

NEWS/SPECIAL EVENTS

The past year at SAMA has been one filled with big names and faces. Exhibitions of major artists such as Ansel Adams, Joseph Holston and Martha Mayer Erlebacher graced the Altoona, Johnstown and Loretto museums, while the traveling exhibition, Artists of the Commonwealth: Realism and its Response in Pennsylvania Painting, 1900-1950 delighted visitors to the Loretto museum with works by many of the commonwealth's greatest artists from the first half of the 20th century. Former Ligonier resident and Presidential portrait artist Chas Fagan exhibited at the Ligonier Valley museum, and was on hand to greet visitors at the Garden Party. SAMA also got a special visit from Gov. Ed Rendell and his wife, Marjorie, who visited the Loretto museum for the opening reception celebrating the Adams and Holston exhibitions.

The museum continued its history of successful special events in 2006, with the Gala at Loretto, Ligonier Valley's Garden Party, and Black and White: The Art of Style at SAMA-Altoona bringing many visitors to the museum. SAMA also held its second annual concert program at the Johnstown museum, which featured performances by Blues Rocker Johnny B and the Desperadoes, Grimace, and Red Alert.

Blues Rocker Johnny B and the Desperadoes opened the festivities at Johnstown's SAMA JAM.

Gov. Ed Rendell and wife, Marjorie, with Lynn and Tom Meredith, owners of the Ansel Adams: A Legacy collection shown at SAMA, during an opening reception at Loretto for the Adams and Joseph Holston exhibitions.

Black & White: The Art of Style featured numerous fashions during the style show, sponsored by Kevin Charles Fine Clothing for Men & Women.

Felix and the Hurricanes played at a special Blue Monday street party at SAMA-Altoona during the summer.

ARTS-IN-EDUCATION

Education Coordinator Liz Garlena works with students during an Arts-in-Education presentation.

Central to SAMA's mission is improving the quality of life of the residents, young and old alike, of Central and Southwestern Pennsylvania. By offering its award-winning Arts-in-Education and Artist-in-Residence programs to local school districts, the museum is able to instill in children the importance the arts and culture play in our society, as well as demonstrate how imagination and creativity can benefit a well-rounded education. These programs, offered in partnership with the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts, currently serve students in more than 70 schools throughout Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland counties. Through programs such as summer art camps, or the Artists of the 21st Century student art exhibition, children gain first-hand experience in creating art, additionally gaining confidence and self esteem as they see their creations come to life.

This past year saw SAMA's Museum/Health Care Partnership Program flourish, with trained artists visiting health care facilities throughout SAMA's six county service region. Through the program, SAMA museum educators and artists work directly with health care providers in order to administer programs designed to alleviate pain and suffering caused by numerous afflictions or advancing age. Through the creation of visual arts and participation in performing arts, the effects of a chronic condition can be reduced, resulting in decreased pain and depression.

The sessions have proven to be beneficial in a number of positive ways. I have noticed that the clients and I are more relaxed during these sessions; there are frequent smiles and at times, laughter. The distraction of the chronic issues each individual deals with on a daily basis is very beneficial and in fact, gives one the sense of accomplishment. This also enhances the self esteem often lowered with the dramatic life altering chronic issues.

-Patient, John P. Murtha Neuroscience and Pain Institute

A residency with directory artist, Brianne Lees, culminated in an interpretive dance performance in front of family and fellow classmates.

Jazz vocalist Janet Lawson (second from right) got artists and teachers involved during a professional development workshop at the Johnstown museum.

High school students tour the Altoona museum to view the James Mascitelli: Contemporary Conceptualizations exhibition.

There were days when I thought I didn't want to make the effort to get to class because of other things going on in my day. But I would come and within 10-15 minutes of being there I was very happy that I came and left with a very good feeling.
