

ARTIST STATEMENT

Robin Grass's art studio

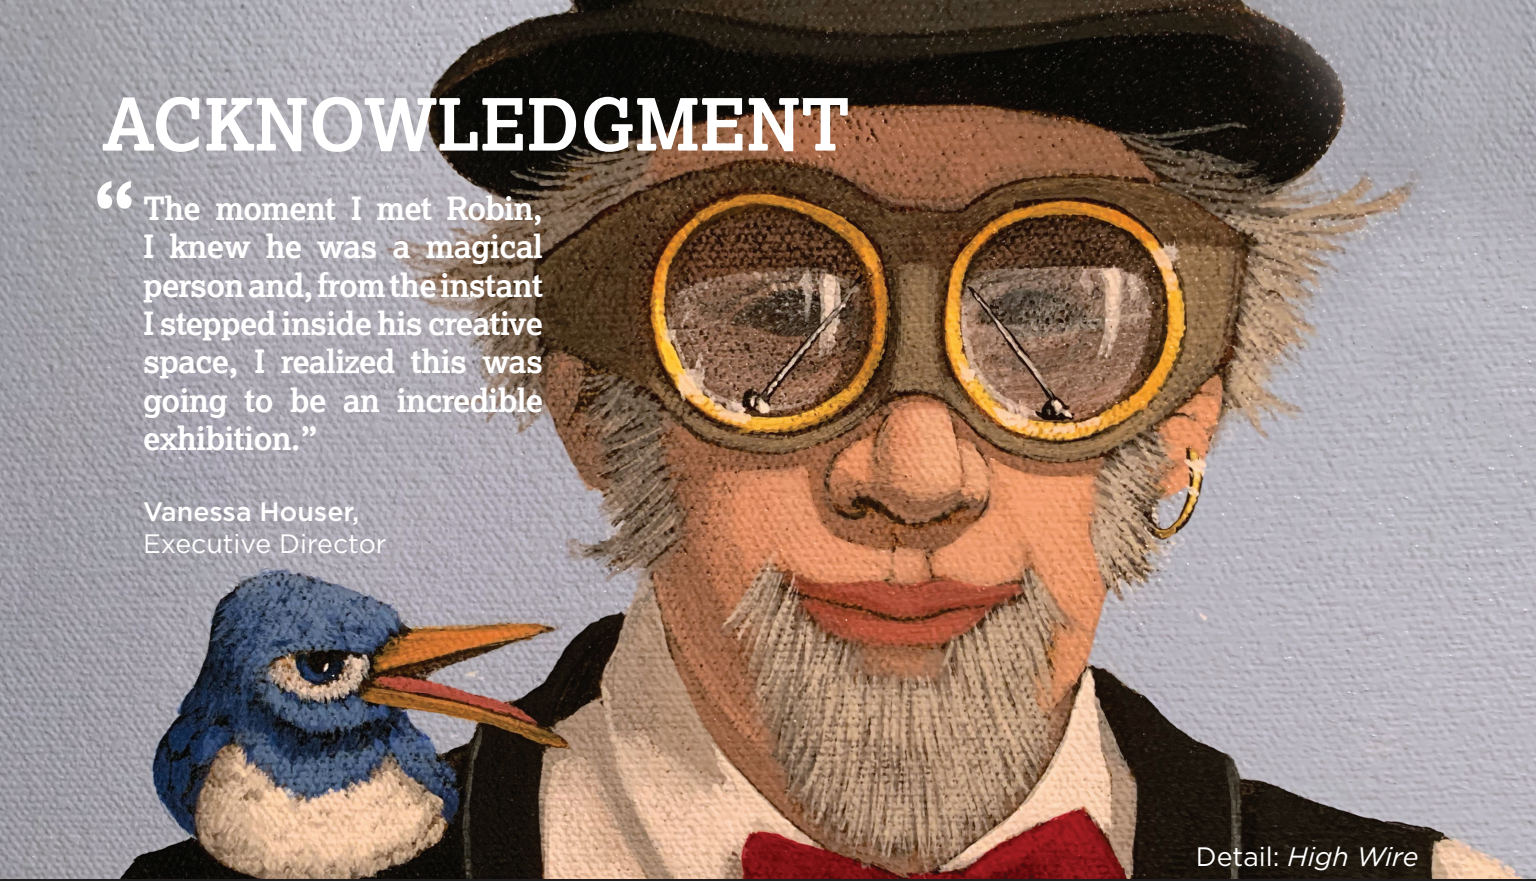

For me the subject is but a pretext to paint a picture. I say this because in most of my paintings I attempt to create something that is visibly comparable to music. If someone can conceive of the rhythms and variations of musical themes, then they can more readily approach and appreciate my paintings. Rene Magritte once said, "People who look for symbolic meanings fail to grasp the inherent poetry and mystery of the image." For me, to paint is less about painting than it is about illustration. What I try to create are images that have no obvious answers to their mysteries and it misses the point to ask me what my paintings mean because I honestly do not know and more to the point, I am not interested in knowing. Just look and enjoy.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

“The moment I met Robin, I knew he was a magical person and, from the instant I stepped inside his creative space, I realized this was going to be an incredible exhibition.”

Vanessa Houser,
Executive Director
